Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurOn the kibbutz its hard to know. Were all supposed to be friends but very few really areAriella, unhappy in love, confides in the woman whose husband she stole.Nahum, a devoted father, cant find the words to challenge his daughters promiscuous lover.The old idealists deplore the apathy of the young, while the young are so used to kibbutz life that they cant work out if theyre impassioned or indifferent. And amid this group of people unwilling and unable to say what they mean, Martin attempts to teach Esperanto.Revue de presse"Lucid and heartbreaking. Explores the always uncertain relationships between men and women, parents and children, friends and enemies, in a clear, clipped language perfectly suited to the laconic tone of the narrative and impeccably rendered into English by Sondra Silverston" (Alberto Manguel Guardian)"There's a beautiful economy and simplicity to Oz's storytelling" (The Times)"Oz lifts the veil on kibbutz existence without palaver. His pin-point descriptions of individuals and spaces are pared to perfection in order to resonate. His people twitch with life" (Tom Adair Scotsman)"Oz is a quiet, plain, compelling writer" (Alan Taylor Herald)"Deeply affecting chamber piece."
